TRACK I: THE FUNDAMENTALS (2 CEUs)

Individuals are usually promoted to supervisory and leadership positions because of their ability to perform assigned tasks in a safe, productive manner using the tools and equipment provided. When they are promoted to leadership positions some do not perform up to management's expectations because they were not given a new set of tools. Supervisors, foremen and team leaders are expected to plan, schedule, coach, counsel and discipline. They are also expected to perform safety and equipment inspections, conduct safety meetings and incident investigations. This 5-module program was designed specifically to address the fundamental skill sets needed to be an effective supervisor / team leader. Track II will address human relations issues faced by supervisors and team leaders.

Track I Modules:

- Supervisor's / Team Leader's Roles in the Management Process
- Effective Communication and Leadership Skills
- Hazard Recognition, Evaluation and Control
- Introduction to Incident Investigation and Root Cause Analysis
- Conducting Effective Safety Meetings and Other Presentations

Supervisors and Team Leaders are expected to: plan and schedule work activities; conduct on-the-job training; identify, analyze and respond to performance problems; recognize and respond to the signs and symptoms of troubled personnel and prevent harassment in the work place. Track II includes five (5) four-hour modules on these topics. Many new supervisors simply mimic how their previous supervisor or team leader addressed such issues. Some will do well while others may fail miserably because they don't know any other way to address the issues. The modules in Track II will build on Effective Communication, Leadership and Incident Investigation skills learned in Track I.

Track II Modules:

- Pre-Job and Pre-Task Planning
- Effective On-the-Job Training
- Analyzing Problems and Conflict Resolution
